When (in the year 440, by Hardic count) Erreth-Akbe came to make peace between the Archipelago and the Kargad Lands, bearing the Bond Ring as pledge of his king's sincerity, he came to Hupun as the capital of the Kargad Empire and treated with King Thoreg as its ruler. From the breast of his robe he took a pouch of fine leather decorated with silver threads. With a delicate horn spoon tied to the pouch he lifted the few drops of quicksilver from the cup and placed them in it, then retied the thong. followed. He finished his soup, and she took the bowl. She sat down in her place, the stool by the oil lamp. PEOPLES AND LANGUAGES. Among the Kargs the power of magic appears to be very rare as a native gift, perhaps because it was neglected or actively suppressed by their society and government. Except as an evil to be dreaded and shunned, magic plays no recognized part in their society. This inability or refusal to practice magic puts the Kargs at a disadvantage with the Archipelagans in almost every respect, which may explain why they have generally held themselves aloof from trade or any kind of interchange, other than piratical raids and invasions of the nearer islands of the South Reach and around the Gontish Sea. "There are no dangerous jobs." good house." After a while he thought, "I might keep some goats." stung by flies. He said, "Oh! I can't --!" After a long time she said, clearing her throat, not looking up, "Is it true I do harm being here?". to a platform at least a kilometer long from which a spindle-shaped craft was just departing. He was sitting a little way from where he lay, looking at himself, although it was still utterly dark. He lay huddled and crumpled near where the little seep-stream dripped from the ledge of mica. Not far away lay another huddled heap, rotted red silk, long hair, bones. Beyond it the cavern stretched away. He could see that its rooms and passages went much farther than he had known. He saw it with the same uncaring interest with which he saw Tinaral's body and his own body. He felt a mild regret. It was only fair that he should die here with the man he had killed. It was right. Nothing was wrong. But something in him ached, not the sharp body pain, a long ache, lifelong. hatch. The mites were bothering her, and she looked scruffy and jaded. He said a few words against. There were many such isles in the Archipelago, made barren and desolate by rival wizards' blights. within a century or so conquered or absorbed most of the other Kargad kingdoms, of which there had. others they said, "Ember can tell you." "Worms," said the helmsman, the master's brother. "Catch fish anywhere near Roke, you'll find em thick with worms as a dead dog on a dunghill." "I doubt the Doorkeeper would defy it lightly," said one of them Irian had not noticed till he. between featureless walls to a wooden door in a higher wall. He had put his spell on her, and she. "You went wrong. You've come back. But you're tired, Irioth, and the way's hard when you go alone." "If you're a dowser, better dowse," said Licky, coming up alongside him and looking sidelong into. He saw the lines of the spells that held him, heavy cords of darkness, a tangled maze of lines all about him. There was a way out of the knot, if he turned around so, and then so, and parted the lines with his hands, so; and he was free. around them, a few lights glimmering, pulsing, so that they were encircled now by an orange. The dragons offered no threat during this period, and the Kargs had withdrawn into their own internal quarrels, but the disintegration of the society of the Archipelago worsened as the years went on. Moral and intellectual continuity lay only in the knowledge and teaching of The Creation and the other myths and hero-stories, and in the preservation of crafts and skills: among them the art magic used for right ends..The ship's weatherworker came aboard just before they sailed, no Roke wizard but a weatherbeaten fellow in a worn sea-cloak. Ivory flourished his staff a little in greeting him. The sorcerer looked him up and down and said, "One man works weather on this ship. If it's not me, I'm off."
